Things Might Get Ugly is a cooperative, but potentially ugly party game.

One player lines everyone up from least to most... then the group has to work out which of three categories they were ranked against.

Choose the gentle cards for laughs or the ugly cards for carnage!

COMPONENTS

- 107 cards
- Small board

HOW TO PLAY

One player is the Ranker. They flip over 3 cards.

The Ranker draws card A, B or C at random and keeps it secret.

This indicates the category in play.

They choose GENTLE cards or UGLY cards or a mix of the two.

The Ranker lines all the players up from LEAST to MOST... including themselves.

E.g. if the category is vain - the ranker lines everyone up from least vain to most vain.

The other players must decide which of the three categories they have been ranked against.

Get it right and the group wins a point.
